Lower Gasoline Unit For Alberta

Effective from Thursday, Oct. 1, the gasoline ration unit for Alberta was reduced from five to four gallons. The effect is that a car owner for example, who would have been entitled to 80 gallons for the six months period from Oct. 1st, to March 31st, will be cut to 64 gallons.

Officials of the Alberta Motor Association some time ago urged that in view of this province being located in an oil producing area which is in fact the highest producing region in the Dominion, every effort should be made to provide a maximum supply of gasoline, providing this was not harmful to the country's war effort.

Regional supplying of gasoline, in view of the production of oil in the province, also was urged upon the Dominion authorities, while it was pointed out as essential that the business economy of the country should be fully recognized.

Under the new federal order, Alberta motorists will receive four gallons of gasoline per unit, and car owners in Saskatchewan and Manitoba are on the same basis. British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec have been on the four-gallon basis for some months, while the allowance for the maritime provinces is three gallons per unit.

Heavy demands for fuel for war projects and services in the north-west were responsible for the reduced Alberta ration.

On motion by Councillor Carr, the report of the Committee on Fire, Light and Utilities was received and accepted.

Town Constable Donaldson then submitted his report for the month of September, as follows:

The chemical motor truck was taken out and a cylinder exhausted, which gave a pressure of 135 lbs. It was then demonstrated on its capacity by regulating the flow, etc., after which the cylinder was recharged and placed back in position ready for call. A new battery has just recently been installed in this motor.

Mr. Veitch, inspector of the Canadian Underwriters' association, has now completed his inspection of the town. He has gone over everything which affects his work here, including survey of the restricted building area, all fire-fighting equipment, water supply, pipe lines and fire hazards of every description.

WOMEN'S DIVISION R.C.A.F.

MOTOR TRANSPORT DRIVERS

Since the inception of the Women's Division of the Royal Canadian Air Force more than 5,000 Canadian girls have enlisted. It is notable that a great number of girls applying for enlistment have shown a preference for Motor Transport Driving, a field generally conceded to belong to the stronger sex.

However, girls seeking enlistment as Transport Drivers must possess certain qualifications. To begin with, they must be experienced drivers holding a Provincial automobile drivers' license. A clear understanding of the Provincial Highway Traffic Act, covering driving speed, parking, and accident procedure is also essential.

On entering Initial Training School for a Transport Drivers' Course, the Airwoman soon learns that there is more to a car than a steering wheel and a gear shift. Firstly, she is instructed thoroughly on the prevailing Highway Traffic Act and all regulations regarding the operation of the Transport Section. She learns how to make out Drivers' Reports, Accident Reports, Situation Reports and all forms used in the Mechanical Transport Section. Procedure when driving Officers also comes in for attention. By this time our airwoman is ready to learn something of the vehicle she will drive. First comes the method of checking and inspecting a transport before putting it into service. Then she is taught the elementary principle of the Internal Combustion Engine. The cleaning, lubrication and general maintenance of vehicles and the use of hand tools.

The carburetor, ignition system, starting motor and generator are clearly explained as to their function operation and adjustment. Batteries, tires, differential and gear box come in for special study and the airwoman is taught the operating and testing of fuel, lubrication and greasing systems as well as the brake system and the testing and adjustment of wheel alignment. Engine timing, spark plugs, cooling system and the dozens of minor accessories on a vehicle are also studied.

By this time the airwoman has a pretty thorough knowledge of a Motor Transport so she is given lessons in practical driving. Passes her examinations and receives her posting to one of the stations in Canada, operated under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

As Motor Transport Drivers, the members of the Women's Division of the Royal Canadian Air Force really excel. They are careful and courteous and have proven their ability to "take it" under the strain of long hours behind the wheel of a heavy truck on roads not exactly built for pleasure driving. Strenuous as the work of a Transport Driver may be at times, it is also an interesting branch of the service, closely allied to the flying sections and as airwomen say "never a dull moment."

EMPIRE HONOURS

DIEPPE HEROES

(By H.G. MacLean)

OTTAWA, Oct.—Dieppe—a name which will forever be linked with Vimy Ridge, Ypres Hill, Passchendaele and The Somme as a place where Canadian soldiers proved their inherent mettle and resourcefulness as fighting men—has given the Dominion a new crop of heroes. Although the work of the Canadians in that memorable August morning attack upon the French coastal town proved the battle power of the nation for the first time on land, in this war and all the troops participating established themselves as heroes, certain special tributes have been bestowed by a grateful Empire upon those whose bravery and resourcefulness in battle was especially prominent.

Defence Minister Ralston has announced that 478 Canadians have been honoured in the list of awards made in connection with the Dieppe raid. One young regimental commander received the coveted Victoria Cross, five the Distinguished Service Order, sixteen officers received the Military Cross and 24 are mentioned in Despatches.

Twelve officers including Major-General J.H. Roberts M.C. of Kingston, Ont. receive the Distinguished Service Order, sixteen officers receive the Military Cross and 24 are mentioned in Despatches. But officers were not the only ones whose service at Dieppe merited nomination for decorations. The privates, sappers, gunners, signallers, lance-corporals, corporals and sergeants comprised the bulk of the lists of recommendations for twelve Distinguished Conduct Medals, 45 Military Medals and 68 who were mentioned in Despatches.

For sheer bravery, total disregard for the venous fire from the enemy's pill-boxes, and the cold steel of their bayonets, the Canadians stand out as an ideal example of the fighting ability of Canadians. The citations which accompanied the awards produced as many thrills to their readers as those of the Great War. In fact the citations themselves were probably the best literature to come from any of the battle fronts in this conflict. Certainly Hollywood could not conjure up more exciting scripts.

Take a few examples: Lieut.-Col. C.C. Merritt, V.C. winner. Although twice wounded, Lieut.-Col. Merritt continued to direct his unit's (South Saskatchewan Regiment) operations with great vigour and determination while organizing the withdrawal he stalked a sniper with a Bren gun and silenced him. He coolly gave orders for the departure and announced his intention to hold off and 'get even with' the enemy. When last seen he was collecting Bren and Tommy guns and preparing a defensive position which successfully covered the withdrawal from the beach.

Lieut.-Col. Dollard Menard, D.S.O. Les Fusiliers Mont-Royal. "When finally taken on board a landing craft (tank) although wounded for the fifth time he still insisted on organizing anti-aircraft defenses and looking after his men."

Hon. Capt. the Rev. James Porter Browne Canadian Chaplain Service. "With total disregard for his own safety and while subject to a continuous mortar and machine gun fire he repeatedly went to exposed positions rendering every possible aid and assistance to the wounded."

Lieut. W.A. Ewenor, M.C., R.C.E., wounded early in the attack "When more of his men were wounded he carried a 75-pound charge of explosives as far as the station."

Lieut. Paul P. Lorranger, M.C., Les Fusiliers Mont-Royal. "During the withdrawal he refused assistance and although his legs were smashed he crawled towards the beach and into the water where he was finally hoisted into an L.C.T. His courageous actions and self-sacrifice are worthy of the highest commendation."

Sgt. Ernest R. Thirgood, M.M., Royal Regiment of Canada. "Although seriously wounded, Sgt. Thirgood demonstrated a cool, unflinching determination to carry out his task and set a fine example to his men."

Lieut. George A. Alfred, M.M., R.E.L.I. "He was one of the first to enter the Casino where single-handed he attacked and destroyed a German stronghold in the building at considerable personal risk."

Pte. John M. Milson, M.M., Essex Scottish. "Was in charge of a mortar. After penetrating the enemy's wire obstacles he brought his weapon into action effectively. The enemy replied with a four-inch mortar and machine-gun fire. Although wounded in the hip, he failed to silence Pte. Milson's mortar."

Lieut. George T. Nugent, M.M., Cameron Highlanders. "He disposed of the mipers and cleared two houses effectively dealing with all opposition and allowing the platoon to advance."

Pte. Oliver O. Fenner, M.M., South Saskatchewan Regiment. "His platoon came under heavy fire from a hilltop and could not advance further because of the open ground in front. Pte. Fenner jumped up and fired his Bren gun from the hip advanced up the hill. Although wounded in the legs he pushed on until his ammunition was exhausted."

Lieut. Guy Bernard Berthelot, D.C.M., South Saskatchewan Regiment. "Berthelot alone advanced up the open hill into the pit area firing from the hip straight down into the enemy pits. His action followed up this daring and inspired assault with grenades and rifle fire. 37 dead and 30 prisoners were accounted for."

C.S.M. George Gouk, D.C.M., Cameron Highlanders. "In the withdrawal of over two miles he was the last man to stay behind to cover the retirement of small parties of men."

Lieut. George A. Hickson, D.C.M., R.C.E. "When the platoon commander and most of the senior N.C.O.s were put out of action, Hickson assumed command and led the platoon to the Casino where strong enemy opposition was nullified. Using explosives he blew his way through the walls to reach a large concrete gun emplacement then another charge blew in the steel door killing a gun crew of five. He then destroyed the 6-inch naval gun and two machine guns after infantry had cleared the post."

The foregoing excerpts, taken at random from the citations bespeak the cold, calculating courage of the Canadians. Every one of the Dominion's soldiers in the raid that memorable August 19 morning were heroes and as they came from the farms and factories, the mines, the fisheries, the lumber camps, the offices and the professions of the nation they give a fairly good cross-section of what kind of an account they will give for themselves in future engagements with the enemy.

Hints for the Household

It's more than ever important to provide well-balanced and thoroughly satisfying meals for the family. This poses something of a problem for the chief cook, who often has 'defence work' of her own to look after; but you'll find an easy solution is to plan a buffet supper on busy nights. Hot soup, cold meat or a pot of baked beans, salad, plenty of rolls and a toothsome dessert are an easy-to-serve choice. To relieve strain and tension for everybody, it's a good idea to brew lots of hot decaffeinated coffee, so that everybody can indulge in heartening second cups without worry over sleeping problems. When you use the pot or percolator method, it is important to brew decaffeinated coffee just a little longer than the ordinary blend to bring out its full, rich flavor. And be sure always to have all coffee-making equipment scrupulously clean.

Buffet Cofee
1 cup strong decaffeinated coffee
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
3 tablespoons sugar
Dash of salt
3 cups milk
Make decaffeinated coffee extra strength using 1½ tablespoons for each cup ¼ pint water. Add chocolate to square in top of double boiler and place over low flame, stirring until chocolate is melted and blended. Add sugar and salt, and boil 4 minutes, stirring constantly. Place over boiling water. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly; then heat. When hot, beat with rotary egg beater until frothy. Serve hot. Top with whipped cream if desired. Serves 4.

BAKED PEACH TAPIOCA PUDDING
1/3 cup quick-cooking tapioca
4 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups canned sliced peaches, drained
2½ cups water and peach juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons melted butter
Mix quick-cooking tapioca with remaining ingredients in greased baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (375° F) 30 minutes, or until done, stirring well every 10 minutes, and again when removing from oven. Serve warm or cold with cream. Serves 8.

Lemonized Cole Slaw
1/2 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste
1½ tablespoons sugar
6 tablespoons coffee, cream or half and half
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 head (small) cabbage
Chop or shred cabbage rather fine. Mix other ingredients in order given and pour over shredded cabbage. Mix thoroughly. Chill and serve.

Corned Beef and Liederkrantz Cheese Sandwich
1½ cups minced cooked corned beef
3 tablespoons horseradish
1 tablespoon mustard
6 slices bread
1 package Liederkrantz cheese
Combine corned beef, horseradish and mustard. Spread on slices of bread. Cover with thin slices of Liederkrantz.

crisps cheese. Place in hot oven (400° F.) about 10 minutes until cheese is melted. Serve at once. Serves 6.

Liederkrantz Cheese and Onion Spread
Spread slices of rye or pumpernickel with butter and Onion with Liederkrantz cheese. Cover with sliced marinated Bermuda onion. To marinate onion, add salt, pepper and equal quantities of oil and vinegar to sliced onion and let stand twenty minutes. Garnish with stuffed olives.

PLAIN FOODS IN FANCY FORMS
Take the Lima bean, for instance. Cooked dried Lima may be procured in cans anywhere. They're delicious "as is" but try the following recipes and you will understand why an orchid should go to you as well as to the others who have learned this important lesson.

Limas in Pepper Boats
2 cups cooked, dried Limas
3 green peppers
1 medium onion, minced
2 tablespoons fat
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cayenne
1 No. 1 can tomatoes, strained
1 cup grated American cheese
1/2 cup buttered cracker crumbs
Halve peppers lengthwise; remove seeds, boil 5 minutes. Brown onion in fat; add tomato, seasonings and Limas. Simmer 20 minutes, remove, add cheese. Fill peppers with mixture. Sprinkle with crumbs; place in shallow pan, containing ½ inch hot water. Bake in moderate oven 20 minutes.

Lima Timbales
2 cups cooked, dried Limas
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1½ tablespoons flour
1/2 cup milk
1 egg slightly beaten
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon salt
Rub Limas through a coarse sieve.

Melt butter, add chopped onion and cook until yellow. Add flour, stir until smooth, then add milk. Stir constantly until creamy. Add pared Limas, egg, chopped walnuts, salt and pepper. Pack in buttered timbale molds or custard cups and place in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven (360° F.) for about 20 minutes. Turn out and serve with tomato sauce.

RUSSIA'S MAN OF STEEL

'Stalin himself is a Georgian. I have visited his birthplace, in a tiny village near Tiflis and seen his relatives. There is a small collective farm at the village of Ded-Loles which is entirely inhabited by peasants named Djughashvili. Stalin's real name is Josef Vissarionovich Djughashvili, and Lenin gave him the nickname of Stalin, which means steel. These aunts and uncles and cousins of Stalin have broad handsome faces, big dark eyes, and wide foreheads. They are quite Asiatic in their habits. The women never sit down at the table with the men.' (It was There a Year Ago—Margaret Bourke White in 'North American Guest Night', in the BBC overseas service.)

NAZES DESERVE ENTERTAINMENT TAX

A blatant fake put over on the German radio after the Dieppe raid caused much amusement to some listeners at the BBC.

An announcement from a German station that the Dieppe raid was broadcast in English, an account of the Dieppe battle, brought a little band of producers and scriptwriters into a Listening Room. Hoos of laughter greeted the said observer's opening remarks. He alleged that he was standing on the cliffs at Dieppe and giving a running commentary on crashing Spitfires, burning tanks, etc. etc. BBC producers couldn't help being amazed at the Germans' luck in having an English-speaking commentator, complete with recording car, on the English cliffs at Dieppe at exactly the right time.

The actual commentary itself was no end amusing. The speaker said, in a perfectly flat, uninterested voice: 'Here is a Spitfire crashing.' Then came sound effects of a Spitfire which, as the speaker noted, crashed not more than three feet from the commentator. Next, without a pause or any change of tone, he went on to describe four tanks being demolished in swift succession, again with suitable effects notes. This 'eye-witness'—or eye-wash witness—account was thought too good a joke to be kept to a small circle of BBC staff. So a recording of it was put out in a BBC Radio Newsworld in the African Service. Later, 'Combined Operations' accepted the BBC's offer to send discs of the recording to some of the returned Dieppe raiders in a South England hospital—purely for entertainment value.

Each episode reveals the shenanigans and law-breakers within the law, with the youthful newspaper publisher Britt Reid as the crusading central character. Concealing himself as the Green Hornet, and with the aid of his valet and chauffeur Kato, his exciting escapades on behalf of justice provide thrills for young and old. After November 4th, the Green Hornet will be heard at the usual time.

To boost Canada's Fall Victory Loan over the top, a brand-new "All-Star Variety Show" takes the airwaves every Wednesday evening at 7:00.

Sixty minutes of fast-moving fun and pleasure, these broadcasts will hit a new high in entertainment-value of an unusual kind. Be on the look-out for the Victory Loan shows—and BUY A VICTORY BOND.

CIRCUS PAYS RAIL FARES IN SILVER

Edward Cassidy Elliot, who retired from the position of General Passenger Agent, Canadian National Railways, Montreal, on October 12th, was a railwayman for 48 years. In a recent interview he recalled a night long ago when an unhappy agent received several hundred dollars in silver from a circus treasurer in payment for transportation. It was after midnight, and while the train waited on the siding, ready for the next move, the agent counted out the money, coin by coin, by the light of a switchman's lantern, rejecting the occasional plugged nickel. After that experience, the railways made a rule that $10 would be the limit of silver coin accepted from any circus.

WAR TRAFFIC

In 1941 the Canadian National System moved more than 65,000,000 tons of munitions of war and other products of industry and agriculture. This year the volume of traffic shows a further substantial increase, according to R.C. Vaughan, Chairman and President.

LONGEST RUN

Big passenger locomotives of the Canadian National Railways now run all the way from Winnipeg to Jasper, a distance of more than 1,000 miles, without change. This is said to be the longest run of any railway.

Hunters Are Asked To Exercise Caution

Complaints in increasing numbers are being received by the Department of Lands and Mines from farmers throughout northern Alberta regarding infractions of The Game Act, which are being made at the present time by hunters.

These infractions affect trespass of private property. It is not, however, the question of inexcusable intrusion that forms the basis for such complaints so much as the damage which has been resulting from same. As everyone knows, the crops this year have been extremely heavy. Rainfall during the summer has been abundant, and in many cases the grain is lodged on the ground, creating a problem for harvesting.

On many recent occasions, hunters have apparently considered such fields as suitable localities for their operations and have taken up positions in them without first of all obtaining permission from the owners of the land. Shooting starts, birds are brought down, and in looking for game, the grain, already seriously lodged on the ground, is trampled down making its condition considerably worse.

In one case recently, a party was caught tramping over such a field. No permission to go into it had been obtained. In questioning the hunters, it was learned that no less than 17 birds had been brought down, but only three had been found. The field contained a particularly heavy yield of grain. In conducting this search a lot of serious damage was done.

It is only in the interests of common decency, hunters should exercise a little more consideration for the problems of other people—particularly of people contributing to war economy. The Game Act quite definitely states that permission from the owner of the land must first be obtained before entry upon it is made. Apart from this just and natural clause, being in force the obtaining of such permission should be instinctive—a simple matter of courtesy. With unwarrantable damage to property arising from such trespass, especially in such times as these, the offence becomes far more serious.

NOTES

As you all know the newspapers and radio about a month ago carried the news of the crew given to 88 survivors of a torpedoed merchant vessel by Miss E.L. Brown, formerly matron of our local hospital, when these unfortunate men were landed at the Mission Hospital at Fortuau, at 7:10 a.m., after being afloat on lifeboats for 24 hours.

This quotation from a recent letter written by Miss Brown will be of interest to our Red Cross workers: "Men were brought ashore in small motor boats, cold, hungry and haggard looking. Many had lost all their clothes, and were covered only with what could be spared off the (rescued) ship, this included the Red Cross supply. Many of the men were wearing Red Cross sweaters, scarves, socks, and helmets."

The following letter has just been received by the secretary of the local branch of the Red Cross. It was written by the Dowager Marchioness of Reading who is Chairman of the Women's Voluntary Service for Civil Defense, of which Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth is President. "Dear Members of the Canadian Red Cross."

I cannot write a stereotyped letter of thanks to your branch, but as it over a year now since the W.V.S. began to act as mid-winter between the Canadian Red Cross and the bombed out civilians for whom your gifts are destined, I, as Chairman of the W.V.S., want to send you a small appreciation of the work which you have done for the people in this country.

Your wonderful cases arrive in this country packed full of jam, of quilts, of children's clothes, of rubber boots and other marvelous things to alleviate the suffering and the distress of the people of this country. The work you have done for us as you sat sewing or knitting or bent over cases packing up the bales, great as it has been, has been less than the unseen aid that you have sent us in this past and tragic year.

We still have a long way to go. There is still a great deal to be done. Not until every member of the Empire has shouldered his or her responsibility and can truly say that they have left no charge upon them unfilled, will the day of our ultimate victory come into sight. We have no hour to waste. The sense of urgency is everywhere.

(signed) Stette Reading
Chairman."

The executive of the local branch regret the resignation of the Secretary, Mrs. Guy Pigeon, owing to ill health. Mrs. Washburn will act until the end of the year. Mrs. Schmitt and Mrs. Harper were elected to fill two vacancies on the Executive. Mrs. Hannah was named as representative for prisoners of war. Any questions regarding such prisoners should be addressed to her. — H.M.W.

Beef Prices Now Go Up

Upward revision of the wholesale ceiling prices of beef and stricter control of retail prices is announced by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

The wholesale price level will advance seasonally until June at which point it will be 20 cents per hundred-weight above the ceiling price announced last June. It is stated that next June the Board intends to declare the June price as the only ceiling, and the prices will be left free to fluctuate seasonally under that ceiling in accordance with actual market conditions.

If beef shortages appear to be more than temporary, rationing will be introduced, the Board announces in a statement that plans for meat rationing are being studied and prepared.

The Board states that cattle prices, as distinct from beef prices, will not be subject to actual ceiling at present. If recurrent beef shortages should cause a black market forcing cattle prices to unduly high levels, it will be necessary to impose livestock price ceilings.

But the Wartime Food Corporation is prepared to buy cattle if at any time a surplus supply threatens to depress cattle prices unduly, and after supplying a reserve supply for domestic consumption will export any remaining surplus cattle.

Retail prices will be more strictly controlled. The Board states that it is considering an order defining standard cuts of beef. Retailers may not sell for more than their margin obtained in the basic period, and the Board now orders that no retailer may sell for more than seven cents per pound above his cost, whether he obtains a whole carcass or a wholesale cut.

The Bomber Press Visits England

(By Walter R. Legge in Collaboration with C. V. Charters)

After a week with various activities of the Canadian Army in England, we started to see what the Royal Canadian Air Force is doing. On Saturday, September 5th, we were received by Air Marshal H.E. Edwards, Air Officer Commanding in Chief, R.C.A.F. (Overseas) at an informal press conference at which he freely answered all the questions put to him by the Canadian editors.

The Air Marshal made it clear that he fully favours Canadianization of the R.C.A.F. and that those who are in opposition to do this do not fully understand what is meant. Canadianization of the R.C.A.F. overseas does not mean that it will cease to co-operate with the rest of the R.A.F., any more than some famous regiments would operate independently of the rest of the army. "The very root of high morale finds itself in identity," declared the Air Marshal.

He expressed himself as well satisfied with the standard and training of the men coming over from Canada, and summed it up in the words "Our Air Force is superb". At another time, he said, "This war will be won in the air. It is the only way it can be won. Not without the Army and the Navy, but definitely in the air."

After such an interview, we were more anxious than ever to study the work of the R.C.A.F. at first hand. The first squadron which we visited was the one commanded by Squadron Leader Keith Hudson, D.F.C., of London, Ontario. One of the interesting things to be seen at this station is a remarkably fine scrap book containing photos and clippings of all matters which have taken place at this station. It is an excellent idea and very well carried out.

At this station we chatted with Flight Sgt. C.H.J. Fisher, of Wadena, Sask., who spoke of the pleasure he gets from his home town weekly through the two years he has been overseas. Another member of this station with whom we conversed was Flight Sgt. J.W. Castejon, of Ridgeway, Ontario. A fine show of formation flying and manoeuvres was witnessed by the editors during the afternoon.

On Monday, going to a more distant station, the visiting editors were lucky enough to be able to see the departure and return of a bomber squadron which formed part of a raid on Duisburg. The same evening we witnessed a German raid on a neighboring town. The whole evening was such a unique experience that it will be the subject of a separate article.

Among those whom we met at the station were Flight Lieut. Cliff Guest, of Barrie and Ottawa, who immediately asked after Mr. and Mrs. J.A. MacKenzie, of the Barrie Examiner, and Pilot Officer Arthur Morledge, whose father is a member of the staff of the Lloydminster Times. There are a number of Montreals attached to this station.

While there, a number of Halifax and Wellington bombers were inspected by the editors.

The next day we moved on to another station where Lancaster bombers are located, and were given an opportunity to climb on board one of them. Some of the largest bombs being used against Germany were seen, and the editors also saw a bomber being loaded with bombs and being serviced for a raid that night.

At this station we talked with Flight Sgt. Reynold Quinn of Bromontville, who has two brothers in the R.C.A.F. Flight Sgt. Harold Quinn, who has just returned to Canada as an instructor, and P.O. Walter Quinn attached to another station in England. Having eaten several meals in the messes of these stations, the editors agreed that the food is excellent and plentiful. It is served to the boys by girls of the W.A.A.F. These messes have large bright rooms, equipped with libraries, radios, gramophones and games, and there is a very pleasant and cheerful atmosphere in all of them. One remark that we heard was that the meals on the stations are very much better than the meals served on most of the boats bringing the boys over. In fact, it was suggested that something should be done to improve the meals on the boats.

Afternoon tea and late dinners, according to the English custom, seems to be the rule at all these stations. The following afternoon the editors visited a night flying station of another aerodrome.

It is now ILLEGAL to HOARD scrap, steel or UNUSABLE machinery

The Steel Controller has ordered that, after September 15, 1942, no person may retain in his possession scrap iron or steel weighing a total of 500 pounds or more unless he has a permit.

(For the purposes of the new regulations, scrap metal includes machinery, structural steel, or any other article or commodity containing iron or steel, which is not serving an immediate vital purpose.)

The order also provides:

That anyone, coming into possession after September 15 of scrap iron or steel weighing 500 pounds or more, must dispose of it within 30 days.

That any person having a valid reason for not disposing of scrap metal as scrap metal or who believes that it can serve some essential purpose, must send in a report by September 15 to the Steel Controller, Administrator of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, London Building, Toronto. His report must reveal the exact description, quantity, and location of his scrap metal.

The provisions of the order do not apply to scrap dealers who are already subject to previous orders; nor do they affect metal fabricators and processors who are in legal possession of metal to be used in manufacturing.

A copy of the order, S.C. 16, may be obtained from the Steel Controller, Department of Munitions and Supply, Ottawa.

Infractions of the new regulations are subject to a fine of up to $5,000, or imprisonment of up to five years, or both fine and imprisonment.

THE ENEMY STOPS SHORT

When an individual, either as an enemy agent or as an honest person, who believes what he says, whispers that Canada's Victory Loan bonds will not be cashed after the war, he does not go far enough. To be consistent, and fair, he should add that any future condition in this country which would cancel out the value of Victory Bonds would also make all life insurance policies worthless. He should explain that savings accounts would be wiped out. He should point out that all dollar bills, that five dollar bills, or any other kind of currency, including silver coins, would be just something to toss into the ash can.

Victory Bonds cannot be set aside as something separate and apart from other obligations of this, our country. They are just as sacred a "promise to pay" as the one dollar bills we carry in our pockets.

These bonds are held by the people of Canada. And the only way through which they could be repudiated would be by a decision of the people of Canada not to pay themselves back.

The pessimist is out of order in Canada. The assets and resources of this country, which back up these loans from the people are billions and billions of dollars in excess of the loan totals. Even with all the borrowing that has had to be done since the start of the war in 1939, the interest cost of Canada's total debt to this date, is only 18 1/2 million dollars a year.

Canadian can and will meet indebtedness of that date, fifty years from now our children and our children's children will likely smile quietly at the small financial problem which we thought was so big.

THE HARD LESSON OF DIEPPE

It is an unfortunate but undeniable fact that wars cannot be fought, much less won, without heavy loss of life. That is a lesson to be learned.

many Russian and German battalions struggling today for the rubble that is Stalingrad. They lost us worse because we were not prepared for them, and also, of course, because it is our fathers, brothers and sons, whose lives have been taken, not those of men living in remote Russia or Germany. But they do underline the fact, in tragic and unmistakable terms, that this is total war, and that we must steel ourselves for still greater future losses if we are to win, as in the end we must.

Some there will be who will say that the losses at Dieppe were so heavy as to nullify whatever benefits accrued from the attack. But, apart from the fact that the Canadian forces won their spurs by the cool courage they displayed, it is also true that much invaluable experience was gained, and information obtained, from the operation. Dieppe paved the way for the "big attack." As such we must accept it, and the losses that went with it, knowing that the more than 3,000 casualties suffered there may have costless thousands of lives when real invasion is launched.

But there is one point in connection with the casualties that is open to question. There seems to have been a disposition on the part of military authorities to soften the blow, to minimize the losses, to accumulate the "glory" part of it, and to "soft pedal" the grim, bloody fact that more than 3,000 splendid young Canadians lost their lives, were wounded or are missing.

Would it not have been wiser to admit, as soon as security considerations would permit, that the operation had been very costly? Canadians can take the bad news with the good. In this case it would have hardened us sooner for the greater battles, and greater losses, to come.

And there is another, and a final, lesson from Dieppe. More than 3,000 Canadians are lost as a result of that action. That means that 3,000 more young men, courageous, fit, anxious to serve, are needed to fill up the ranks. That is an appeal that must not go unheeded. — Regina Leader

VICTORY TICKET PLAN

NATIONAL WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE

A direct contributing factor to this "war without human sacrifice" state of mind has undoubtedly been the nature of the communiques and official statements on which news despatches are necessarily based. From the very beginning of the war and down through all the campaigns in which Axis forces have forged steadily ahead, emphasis has been given to the terrific losses incurred by the enemy in capturing a given objective. Consciously or unconsciously implied in all these official references has been the idea that while the enemy has casualties and is suffering, we have none. This is a psychological effect of this constantly reiterated suggestion has been the creation of a popular fallacy that there is no easier and less costly way to win the war than fighting it out in a desperate hand-to-hand struggle.

And that brings us squarely to Dieppe. The losses were exceedingly heavy, none will deny. At that, it is improbable that they are greater, in proportion, than those suffered by

CANADIAN SEEDS DO WELL IN OLD COUNTRY GARDENS

Home again, and how good it seems to be here! With the end of the month my duties in the country ended, and yesterday I came back to "Gran" and a splendid welcome. For six weeks I have been down there, acting as caretaker, if you please, and wending a little of the strangeness of life in a country town.

Now the house is having new tenancy. Almost as soon as my foot was over the doorstep, I have no doubt, men and vans appeared and purged the place of every stick. House property, believe me, is no drug on the market nowadays. With the first broom of a house for sale they come flocking around and its just a matter of taking the highest bidder.

It seems to be nearly everybody's idea of heaven in these times—"our own place"; and the new tenants have been waiting for two whole years for their own front door, poor dears. These sales of furniture, too, are not what they were. People know that nothing will be manufactured for a very long time, and things which once went into a job lot now sell as individual pieces. Even odd scraps and wasters mean real money, these days, for china is scarce and expensive. The chances of being bombed out are simply not considered, for that is a chance everybody has to take, and it is ignored. Of course, alterations and repairs must be done as they come. There will be no installation of electric light, for instance, and such distempers as must be done, I fancy, will be got through by the people themselves. But the relief in their eyes when they knew, at last, that the house was to be theirs!

Everything shopped up. Old boxes, once thrown out, now sell for firewood, and plants in pots go well in a sale—for the sake of the pots, the auctioneer tells me. Solidly made furniture, however unlovely, is snapped up; in fact, I am going back for the sale in order to make a few pieces as an investment. One will take a chance on safe storage and hope to see one's money back, later on, with a little welcome interest. Carpets are real, solid value, too. It is all a revelation of the strange repercussions of a war. Nothing can be wasted now.

Well, I managed to keep myself happy and amused down there, even during the time when I was alone in the house, with night alerts to live the dark hours. During the day I often went out sketching—and what is more, I have sold some of my work. I think folk realize that "permanence" is no longer a word with any real meaning, and they like some sort of record of their homes and familiar surroundings. So I have managed to make a little money for myself and give a certain amount of pleasure at the same time—which isn't a bad combination of qualities, is it? One has to get all sorts of permission to sketch, naturally; police on various Army authorities go into one's bona fides and make sure that one has no ulterior motive in wanting about like that. I was cautious itself, but for all of that, my guess is that there were plenty of inhabitants who rushed hot-foot with news of my goings-on. Well, maybe that's better than never having anything reported at all. I was careful to avoid anything even remotely resembling a military objective—just as careful as I was to avoid those all-prevailing small boys.

PLASTICS MOBILIZED

There are a great many people who still think that because many of the vital metals have been diverted from civilian use to essential war production, plastics can step in and take their place as replacement materials. It is not quite as easy as that, according to the September issue of C-I-OVAL.

The replacement of metals by plastics for certain types of everyday articles may be all very well in normal times when they can do the job as well, if not better in some cases, and certainly more colourfully, but today, it is pointed out, plastics themselves are under strict control for two principal reasons, namely, that raw materials entering into their manufacture are scarce due to their prior need in other more important processes and plastics are more and more replacing metals as well as rubber for many of the smaller needs of the war production programme and must, therefore, be withdrawn from civilian use. For instance, plastic combs will still be available but plastic toilet sets, jewelry, salt and pepper shakers, cutlery and tool handles, etc., will gradually disappear from the retail dealer's shelves.

Hidden Proceeding

The train journey home again was a hidden proceeding; but train journeys are like that in these times, and one must expect it. One gets used to it. And people are all very decent and helpful, making the best of things. One can see the best of things, with their box-like compartments, don't do much to improve conditions, for every compartment is crammed and the corridors, too, are usually full of people standing or trying to sit down on pieces of luggage. There is one comfort: no distances in this country can be a very long one—though slow trains certainly create the illusion that they are!

One gets talking to other folk and somehow the time passes. I got into conversation with an airman who had only recently returned from Halifax, N.S., and he interested me quite a lot. I must hand it to you folks for kindness, for he had a wonderful story to tell. In April, poor fellow, he heard that his wife had died, leaving two children; and straight away, he was invited to go with officers from kindly people out there who were willing and anxious to take the children and care for them.

"One girl," he said to me, "even offered to make the crossing and look after the children for me. I've never known anything like their friendliness and sympathy—and me really a stranger, after all." So you see, he remembers; in fact, he will never forget his trip to Canada. I am sure.

Prolonged drought, though there was a good bit of rain down in the West Country. The allotment, I see, is not at its best; green things have either wilted or shot upwards inordinately, and the ground is hard. But the thoughtful friend who sent me those Canadian seeds will be gratified to know that they have done better than anything else, rain or no rain. The lettuce were really beautiful: as large as bouquets and every leaf eatable—though perhaps too beautiful to be devoured with a clear conscience. Now the onions are coming on: with little black jackets, just for a surprise, and the beans have already made me one excellent meal, together with the carrots, which look really fine.

I am delighted with those Canadian seeds, and the Gardening Partner has already been caught looking at them with the jaundiced eye of envy. I shall let some of the plants run to seed and see what they will produce next year, for they are certainly good stock.

It was a clever thought on my friend's part, and I am grateful. How about other folk taking the hint for their English friends? Our allotments, frankly, are a great part of our lives now, for the price of vegetables in the stores has gone up 300 per cent in many cases, at least, and some things cannot be bought at all. But those of us who grow our own food, even in a bad season, have a measure of glorious independence we can go out and pull our food out of the earth instead of waiting fruitfully in a queue.

Corner Pig Buckets. Down in the country there are waiting for kitchen refuse, and this must mean a tremendous saving in animal food, for these buckets seem to fill very rapidly. Most of the citizens, I noticed, were extremely good about the business, creeping out at dusk, but I am afraid that I walked quite shamelessly, even at broad noon, with my little private bucket in hand, not seeing any reason for coyness.

I think there should be pig clubs and pig buckets everywhere, and am surprised that we are forced to waste so much in this house. But this promiscuous bombing of country places has done a lot to wake up people, so it has not been an unmitigated evil. A town not twenty miles away, was badly smashed while I was in the locality, and I was surprised to find with what quietness the news was taken.

There was no panicky gossip at all—and I can remember the time when it took little more than a good dog-fight, that distance away, to make talk for a week! They even ran a Sunday School treat—as previously arranged—to take place a few days after! Even in those places which, before the fall of France, were thought to be entirely 'safe' the folk are on their mettle in a surprising way and refuse to be ruffled unduly.

The Misuse Of Gasoline

Fires from gasoline and other petroleum products in Canada numbered 1,143 in 1941 causing property damage of over $1,000,000 and resulting in the loss of at least 40 lives and injured to several scores of people. Hundreds of millions of gallons of gasoline are consumed annually in this country but it is the misuse of a few gallons which has been responsible for the mounting total of dead and injured and heavy property damage.

If people would only realize that gallon of gasoline properly vaporized has the explosive force of 85 pounds of dynamite, they would exercise more care in its use. Gasoline should never be used in the home for dry cleaning purposes. Wouldn't it be cheaper to send clothes out to be cleaned than to risk being burned to death in an explosion of the fumes should they come in contact with flame? Even the very act of cleaning clothes in gasoline develops static electricity which is liable to set off the fumes without warning. This has often happened too when floors are cleaned with gasoline.

It may not be generally known but it is nevertheless a fact that in most provinces in Canada a fire insurance policy may be rendered null and void if more than one quart of gasoline is kept in a building without special permit. And even that limit must be kept in a tightly closed metal can never in a glass bottle.

The handling in the presence of ashed lights is also a very dangerous practice. Attempts to transfer this highly volatile liquid from one vessel to another in the presence of lanterns has resulted in numerous deaths and injuries. Where found necessary to do this, it should be done in daylight or by electric light.

Many garage operators still insist on using gasoline for cleaning and washing engine parts in spite of the fact that there are just as efficient and safer solvents on the market. Numerous instances are on record where this practice has resulted in fire and personal injuries.

Where necessary to keep small quantities of gasoline, it should be kept only in approved safety cans and all such containers should be prominently labelled with the word "GASOLINE".

Smoking in the presence of gasoline fumes is a hazardous pastime, and strange as it may seem in this enlightened age some people still try to see how much gasoline there is in a tank by the use of matches or lighted lanterns.

It is hoped that the present restrictions on gasoline will result in the lessening of its use for home cleaning and other hazardous purposes and we may look forward to a decrease in fatalities and property loss from this very unnecessary cause.

NYLON IN INDUSTRY

The yachting of nylon involved to produce any nylon material is tremendous. There are two miles of thread in a pair of nylon stockings and about 500 miles of thread in the nylon part of a parachute. In the nylon plant at Kingston, Ontario, intricate machines can spin many million miles a year of filaments so fine that a few pounds stretched in a straight line will reach from the Atlantic to the Pacific, yet so strong that when twisted together to make yarn the product has the strength of steel, yet is flexible, soft, and elastic.

It was Churchill hurling Britain's decision across the channel. Quit? Never! Fight! Yes, through the hell of adversity till victory is won.

Today Canadians face challenge after challenge with the same unconquerable spirit. Today we are asked to do without so that our fighting men will have everything they need—when they smash straight into the heart of enemy defences.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT By H.G.L. Strange "The Crop Testing Plan"

FOR LADIES ONLY

This "World of Wheat" article is for farm women and girls only. Men can pass it by.

Wool is becoming quite scarce and will become more scarce as time goes on, yet farm women desire to continue knitting many articles for the use of their families and they certainly also wish to continue knitting for soldiers, sailors and airmen in Canada and overseas.

Here is a simple solution, Ladies! Spin your own woolen yarns from wool from the sheep in your own district. It is much simpler than people think. The craft of washing, carding and spinning wool is quickly learned. The modern inexpensive hand carding mill and spinning wheel are most efficient and take the hard work out of this most ancient of all household arts. In almost every district there will be found a worthy grandmother who will be delighted to extend to other farm women her knowledge of the interesting and useful art of spinning.

These homespun wools can be easily dyed, too, in attractive and fast colours.

FARM NOTES

CONTINUATION OF
STORAGE OF GRAIN

4. WOVEN WIRE FENCING—Many farmers have made very satisfactory temporary storage through the utilization of woven wire fencing. A piece of wire from 50 to 60 feet in length is securely attached to one end. The wire is staked on edge in circle on level ground. The interior of the wire is covered with canvas, burlap, straw, sheaves of hay. It is important that the grain be delivered in the centre of the circle, and as the grain gradually fills, the filling material is placed against the wire and held in place by the grain. This type of bin provides a very cheap form of temporary storage and if properly protected from live stock and weather will keep grain without loss for a considerable length of time.

5. KNOW FENCING—The ordinary snow fencing, used for highway protection, can also be utilized for effective grain storage. When properly erected it is capable of withstanding considerable pressure. When snow fencing is used, a hand foot roll may be cut in, two fifty-foot lengths. Before being cut it should be stretched by a tractor or a wire-fence stretcher. The stretching is to overcome excessive expansion when filled with grain. The end of each length should be securely applied and secured on perfectly level ground. It is highly important that the ground be level. The inside of the fence may be lined with "Fibreen" paper, or any other paper of similar strength and quality. The paper is cut in 8 and 10 foot lengths and overlapped to allow for expansion. Ordinary tar paper is not satisfactory. A section of fence may be placed alongside the threshing machine and the grain delivered in the center of the enclosure. When the first section of fencing is filled, the second is super-imposed inside of the first and lined with paper in the same manner as the first. As each section is filled it should be reinforced by two or more strands of No. 9 wire placed around the bin and securely tightened. The "Fibreen" paper has steel fibre woven into the body of the paper making it exceedingly strong. It is covered with a waterproof covering and is quite impervious to moisture.

6. UTILIZING SURPLUS STORAGE SPACE—In country points throughout the province there frequently occur unused storage space. Vacated garages, empty barns and other unoccupied buildings can usually be placed into emergency granaries at little cost. In districts where crop losses have occurred, storage of various types might be arranged to the mutual advantage of all concerned.

7. STORING TOUGH GRAIN—Tough or damp grain when stored in large bins will go out of condition more quickly than if stored in small bins. Where floor space permits, the grain should be spread to a depth of two feet and shovelled over periodically to permit drying. A circulation of air over the grain will facilitate drying. Home-made dryers for tough grain seldom give satisfaction. With limited storage space, grain should be dry before being threshed or combined.

Bins may be tested for heating by inserting a thermometer on the end of a stick into the grain or by taking a sample from a depth of two or more feet. If the grain is noticeably above the temperature at the surface of the bin it should be shovelled over or transferred to another bin.

TRANSFERRING THE PULLETS FROM RANGE TO WINTER QUARTERS

The time is approaching when the pullets that show signs of laying must be transferred from the range to their laying quarters. One vitally important factor leading to a satisfactory egg yield from the flock, from now on, is the careful selection

I have seen some splendid work done on these modern machines and a multitude of useful and beautiful articles knitted from homespun yarns.

Following factors have tended to decrease supply or increase demand: Excess moisture has seriously lowered the quality of this year's crop in the U.S.A., a large percentage grading below No. 2 and "tough". The U.K. even with increased production this year is expected to import one half of her requirements—Canada is sending 15,000 tons of gift wheat to Greece.

Following factors have tended to increase supply or decrease demand: Argentine visible is estimated at 173,609,000 bushels compared with 124,221,000 bushels last year—The British wheat harvest is about completed with yields estimated at above pre-war average—North Europe reports fairly good crops but harvesting is delayed by the cold damp weather.

of only vigorous and well matured birds. The profits will be determined by the quality of the flock and the good bird with proper care and feeding will prove to be an asset. Any amount of feed can be made available but the liability of the poor bird, states W.T. Scott, Head Poultryman, Dominion Experimental Station, Harrow, Ont.

Before being placed in the laying house, every bird should be examined individually and any showing physical defects or those that are underdeveloped for their age should not be held under any circumstances. Glossy, tight, smooth feathers, a bright eye, healthy red comb and wattles and good weight for age are accurate indications of vigorous health and constitution.

Though culling should be a periodic practice, a rigid selection of only the best birds should be the order at this season. If left in the unthrifty weakling will take up the space, feed and labour that might be devoted to a profitable layer, and at the same time she may be a danger to the rest of the flock. Poor vitality offers little resistance to disease and parasites and an outbreak may mean all the difference between profit and loss.

Remember the pullets have had unlimited freedom on the range with an abundant supply of green feed, so make the change to confined quarters as little noticeable as possible. Handle them gently, avoiding overcrowding in the carrying crates, and while the weather is favourable keep the windows in the laying house open, allowing as much fresh air as they have enjoyed in the range shelters. Supply all the green feed they will eat as long as fresh greens are available. They have been used to an unlimited supply and if this is cut abruptly they may go into a premature moult.

As far as possible avoid undue excitement until the pullets have become familiar with their new surroundings and by degrees work them onto the feeding programme that you have laid out for the coming winter.

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF
THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANIES
IN CANADA

At the present moment the Canadian people have available a cheap and palatable source of minerals and vitamins, those food elements so vital to maintaining health. This source of potential health is the year's crop of vegetables. Despite certain periods of anxiety, the crop has been an excellent one, well beyond expectations. It is up to the Canadian housewife to see that the supply of vitamins and minerals really arrives at the place where it will do the most good. This she can only do if she uses the modern up-to-date cooking methods.

Here are some interesting facts—three things happen to vegetable vitamins before you eat them and this is true chiefly of the B vitamins and vitamin C. First, some vitamin is destroyed, lost for good. Second, part of both vitamins and minerals dissolves in the cooking water. Third, a lot of what is left of the vitamin C also vanishes if you leave your vegetables sitting around in the warming oven before serving.

Now, the longer the cooking period, the greater the actual destruction of vitamins; the more water you use, the greater the loss by dissolving in the cooking water. So here are your rules for conservation of vitamins and minerals.

1. Cook all vegetables as lightly as possible.
2. Cook them as quickly as possible.
3. Serve them as soon as they are cooked.

In other words, time your cooking so that the last job before serving the meal is putting the final touches on the vegetables—and do it fast.

And here is something you may not know—there is one vegetable that benefits by the soda treatment, the humble navy bean. A dash of soda for keeping the fresh color, is of course, the most efficient way of destroying most of the C content of any green vegetable. But try a little soda with your boiled beans (navy, remember, not green) and you get the opposite effect. This is because the addition of the soda softens up the tough bean coat and reduces your cooking time, so that you gain more than you lose. Navy beans, by the way, are an excellent source of vitamin B1 and a not to be despised meat substitute.

By writing to the Health League of Canada, 111 Avenue Road, Toronto, you can obtain a free, up to date Vitamin Chart and a booklet "Canadian Vegetables for Every Day."

FARM MACHINERY IS RATIONED

In order to divert steel to war industries the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announces rationing of farm machinery. Fair distribution of all types of farm machinery and equipment will be affected by the order.

Farmers claiming new equipment must state their need, file a statement showing the number of acres in crop, the number of acres in summer fallow, the number of horses, cattle, hogs and sheep on the farm, and a full description of the usable farm machinery on hand.

In the case of a trade-in the farmer must give a full description of old machinery and state whether or not it can be repaired. If it can be put to service, he must state why he is trading it in. Complete reasons must also be stated if the farmer changes over from machinery suitable for horses, mules or oxen, to power equipment.

The order provides that no one may make more than one application for any equipment by entering an application through another dealer. Dealers are governed by strict orders, and will be accountable to the administrator of farm and construction machinery and municipal services equipment for all such machinery in their possession and they will be responsible for obtaining the completed application form from customers.

The order, effective on October 6, supplements a recent Board regulation reducing manufacture and importation of new farm machinery down to 25 percent of the 1941 figures, in some cases. The quota of repair parts was increased over that in effect during the past season.

Here are 8 things that will give as much as 25% more miles per gallon of gasoline.

DEPENDING ON THE DRIVER

1. Drive slowly. It takes about 45% more gasoline to drive at 55 miles an hour than at 35 miles an hour.
2. Low Gear Driving means many more engine revolutions per mile and so means fewer miles per gallon of gasoline.
3. Excessive Choking may waste enough gasoline to run your car several blocks under normal conditions.
4. Sudden Stopping wastes momentum that has cost you a lot of gasoline to build up. Take your foot off the accelerator sooner.
5. "Stop and Go" Driving takes much more gasoline than steady driving.
6. Leaving Hand Brake on obviously wastes gasoline pulling against the added load.
7. "Fomphs" the accelerator hard on the engine and wastes gasoline.
8. "Show Off" Acceleration and speeding may increase gasoline consumption as much as 60% over normal, careful driving.

Municipal Inspector
Gives Report on Town

Following is the report of Municipal Inspector R. B. Ritchie, of the department of municipal affairs for the province, dated Aug. 20th last and presented to Council at its last meeting:

Mayor—Dr. J. G. Middlemas
Sec. Treas.—N. S. Kenny
Bond—$2,000 (Fidelity Insurance Co.)

Assessor—N. S. Kenny
Auditor—Patriquin & Johnston.
Cash Book—Receipts were posted up to date and deposited except balance of $22.12 on hand, which checked out correctly with the records examined. Disbursements were entered to the end of July and books were audited to May 15th last. Apparently audits are not being made quarterly as the Act requires. Attention is also drawn to the necessity of a report being made on such audits—Sec. 93 (1) Town and Village Act.

A general bank account and a tax sale surplus trust account are being kept at the local Bank of Montreal. Social services annual tax levy is paid to the department in full rather than as collected. School (Separate and Public) and hospital regulations are paid to date. Debiture payments are in good standing and purchase of $1,000 Victory Bonds and $600 War Savings Certificates was made out of surplus funds on hand.

No liabilities, outside of debentures not due, were shown at Dec. 31st last and balance on hand was $10,164.77, indicating a very good financial standing of the town.

Minute Book—This is quite complete as to recording business transacted by Council, accounts paid, monthly financial statements, report of elections, etc. Estimates are shown in detail, and required bylaws covering tax rates, land sales, etc., were passed.

Tax Rolls—This was entered up to date, certified complete, and summary of arrears prepared. Forfeited lands are kept in a separate part of the roll and show details as to title date of land, etc.

Separate tax lists are made for municipal, school, hospital and social service, and these are consolidated into one total.

General—Books and records are neatly kept and were up to date. The financial standing of the town is satisfactory.

R. B. RITCHIE,
Municipal Inspector.

Farmer and the Victory Loan
War loan canvassers will be hard at work again on October 18. The minimum objective for Canada's third victory loan is 700 million dollars.

The finance minister, whose difficult task is to find the money to pay the country's war bills, states that the loan must be well over-subscribed.

Many plans are being laid to insure success of the loan. One of these is of particular interest to farmers. It is the "victory ticket method."

The victory ticket is simply an order authorizing the buyers of any farm product, which has a ready cash market, to withhold a part of the proceeds from produce delivered immediately or in the future to pay for a war bond or regular war savings certificate purchase. When remitted to provincial headquarters of the National War Finance Committee, securities equivalent in value to the proceeds received will be sent to the farmer.

Elevator companies, packing companies, produce dealers, livestock commission firms, creamery operators, local merchants, etc., will all be made thoroughly familiar with the plan and will be supplied with the necessary forms.

Thousands of farmers have been doing a superb job in producing those food commodities urgently needed for war. These same farmers want to do more. They are anxious to support the victory loan. It has, however, been impossible for many to buy war bonds or savings certificates for the reason that, at the time of the campaign, they just have not had the ready cash. This new plan will be welcomed by farmers. They will see it is an opportunity to assist just that much more in winning the war.
